BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1950

VOL. 59 — No. 33

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

Observations...

Our friend, Chance Cole, Editor of the Picaune Item, says Murphy Weir, Editor of the Poplarville Democrat, and your editor, are losing time trying to attract business from Picaune to Poplarville and Bay St. Louis. It is true, Picaune is a live wide awake town, and the business men do not lose an opportunity to work in cooperation for civic good. Some day, Chance, our folks are going to wake up, and we are going to continue our drive to cause awakening, particularly as we are going to strive to identify Hancock County.

You may wake up and find out there is a county line just below Picaune. The address of these people will someday change from Picaune to where they rightfully belong. This is one fight in which we will not relent. We are passing the word to our youngsters, in the event it is not accomplished before we pass to the Great Beyond, to carry on the fight, and, too, Chance, it will not be long before our folks realize what it will mean to them, then we will have much assistance in this behalf.

Charles Beam, owner of the Bay Bus Line, is ever willing to better his service in the section he serves. He is now making daily trips to Clermont, and Saturday trips to Lakeshire. He offers the commuters, who live in Waveland, to make an early morning run to Bay St. Louis in time for the commuters' train which leaves at 6 o'clock. Those of you who are interested should contact Charley so that arrangements can be made.

Joe Scharff, owner of the Jitney Jungle has a very timely ad in this issue, "THE SALE OF PLENTY". Joe tells folks he has plenty of merchandise on hand, and there is no scarcity. There is much more where this came from. He is perfectly willing to sell his customers their needs, but suggests that it is not necessary for anyone to stockpile their pantries in fear of not being able to purchase the food supplies they need. This is good advice. Let's hope the housewives follow it, and if they do, we will soon see prices level out once again.

The War Memorial Association of Pass Christian will hold their annual bazaar Saturday and Sunday, August 26 and 27. This affair is held each year to raise money for the maintenance of the War Memorial Park. The War Memorial Association is composed of people in every walk of life in Pass Christian. They worked shoulder to shoulder to raise the money for the purchase of the property, and the equipping of the park, which now affords their youngsters one of the outstanding playgrounds of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, dedicated to the memory of the boys of their fair little city, who gave their lives in World War II. They have not forgotten their war dead. They have erected a perpetual and beneficial monument.

Saturday, August 19, is Tag Day for the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library and when the ladies ask you to make a contribution for the library on this day please do so. The library needs funds. The small contributions, they receive from our public bodies, only takes care of the salaries of the librarians. There are many other incidental expenses so necessary in the operation of the library. You know the library is a necessity. Reading is learning, and of all times that good reading should be encouraged, it is now. The youth of our county should be urged to read more good books, written by able and sound thinking authors. It is just another way to fight off the influence of communism.

The answer the Women's Civic League of Pass Christian received from the Highway Department in response to their request for the use of the old bridge, once the "Monument to Political Indifference" is completed over the Bay of St. Louis, does not surprise us. We have been by-passed by the Highway Department time and time again, and have been made to swallow a toll bridge or nothing. Now to add insult to injury we are informed the old bridge is scheduled to be dismantled and used for repair of other bridges and construction of smaller bridges in the State. No use arguing with John Smith, the present Highway Commissioner. We will either have another Commissioner by the time the new bridge is completed, or some legislative action can be had to give to the representatives some portion of the (Continued on last page 1st Sec.)

REA Studies School Lighting

By Mrs. Jeanne Williams

The R. E. A. has advanced another step in aiding rural communities—showing how to save the eyesight of children—through proper lighting of school rooms in regard not only to light fixtures, but in the conservation of natural light from the sun, painting and seating. Saving eyesight of youngsters means better sight and better health for future generations.

A room in the Leetown School, Hancock County, was chosen for the demonstration, as the school is a typical small institution, with a great deal of community pride. The 7th and 8th grade room was selected because of the problem of glare from east exposure. All material used in the demonstration was furnished by the Coast Electric Power Association, local R. E. A. Cooperative.

The initial work on the room was launched Saturday, August 12, when H. H. Shattuck, Manager of Coast Electric Power Association, and E. E. Breland, County Superintendent of Education, invited teachers and other interested parties to the Leetown School.

Mr. Breland introduced Mr. Shattuck, who in turn introduced Miss Webb, the full time Home Electric-Economist of Coast Electric. Miss Roberta Houston of the Dixie Electric Power Association of Laurel was introduced, followed by an introduction of John M. Frazier, Scientist and Health Instructor from Mississippi Southern College in Hattiesburg. Mr. Frazier was loaned by the college for a period of three years to the State to offer instruction in sight conservation, and the guarding of health in schools.

He stated, his purpose was not to sell but to save. He told of how sky light, improperly painted walls, high gloss on desk, poor artificial light all proved expensive as well as injurious. He stated the high percentage of eye diseases and medical attention that would be needed.

After telling how the M. S. C. Demonstration School conquered their light and painting problem, he showed actual pictures of various schools in the state that had followed his advice on proper lighting.

Mr. Frazier measured the windows in the 7th and 8th grade room for the light diffusers, drew a diagram to scale on the board, explaining each step as he went. He called the carpenters, Charles Lee and Luther Becker, who cut and nailed the frames. Miss Webb and some of the ladies cut the 81 inch domestic proper width, tacked the cloth to the frames. Mr. Frazier, Mr. Shattuck and a few helpers hung the completed diffusers over the windows, thus the first step on improving the light situation was completed. Mr. Shattuck demonstrated how to prepare the desks for refinishing.

The guests were treated to a dinner of fried chicken and all the trimmings by Coast Electric; it was cooked and served by the lunchroom workers of Leetown School. In the afternoon Mr. Lee and Doc Thigpen treated the guests to watermelon.

Shattuck told the teachers, Coast Electric will cooperate with them in any lighting problems they have at their schools. He also stated that this was the first of a series of such demonstrations that would establish model rooms throughout Coast Electric's service area.

Those preparing and serving the meal were Mrs. Charley Lee and daughter, Charlene, Mrs. Lebron Lee, Mrs. Culbert Lee and Doc Thigpen.

Guests represented were Logtown, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Harrell and Miss Yvonne Lee; Catahoula, Elvin Lee; Leetown, Gilbert Lee, Doc Thigpen and Miss Margie Mitchell; Gulfview, Oren Seal, Mrs. Jeanne Williams and Mrs. E. E. Breland; Webb, Mrs. Clairborne Ladner; Taylor, Mrs. Warren Traub; Waveland, Miss Mary Perkins and Miss Mary Marguerite Turcotte; Kilm, Mrs. R. Squires; Miss Gloria Martin and Miss Joel Quintin; Sellers, Miss Doris Owens; Dedeaux, Mrs. Harlan; Sander, Aaron Academy, Miss Mabel Smith and Mrs. S. S. Rutherford; and Cassan, Mrs. Monroe Lee.

Pass Christian—Bravo Woodcock, who ran second to Reed Winstead while seeking reelection to the office of marshal of the city of Pass Christian June 28, filed a petition Monday for judicial review of the election in which only 34 votes separated the two contestants in the second primary.

ELECTION COMMITTEE
The petition, which was filed by Woodcock in the office of Circuit Clerk E. G. Lindsey, charged the municipal executive committee of Pass Christian with failing to allow him to examine the ballot boxes or the poll books after the votes had been counted. The committee for the election was made up of A. St. Amant, Robert Delmetz, William T. Wood, C. C. Ladner and Harry Wittmann.

REFUSED PERMISSION
The defeated incumbent charges that the committee refused him permission to examine the boxes when he had a list of 76 voters in the first and second primaries who were unlisted either by reason of living outside of the community or not having lived in the municipality for the designated period of one year.

EXAMINE BALLOT BOXES
Through judicial channels, Woodcock desires to examine the ballot boxes of the four wards and their contents where the June election is concerned. He claims that if all illegal ballots are thrown out that it will be shown that he is the legal Democratic nominee for this office.

Upon receipt of the petition, Circuit Clerk Lindsey, notified Supreme Court Chief Justice Harvey McGeehe, who will, in turn, appoint a chancellor from without the district to try the case. The person trying the case will set the date of the hearing.

The Annual blessing of the Pass Christian fishing fleet was held as scheduled Sunday afternoon at the Pass Christian Harbor, with Father Dennis Curren, of St. Paul's Catholic church officiating at the ceremonies. The altar boys who served with Father Curren were Wilford Ladner, Gerlyn Ladner, and Robert Bourgeois.

Father Curren boarded the review boat The Queen of The Fleet, which is owned by C. B. Merrick, of Henderson Point.

At three o'clock the boats formed a parade line and entered the harbor in single file circling the review boat to receive the church's blessing.

Ideal weather prevailed throughout the afternoon and the factory road at the harbor was crowded to capacity with spectators from the Pass and from along the entire coast.

The blessing of the shrimp boats at the beginning of each shrimp season is an annual custom of the Catholic church. This year a special program was held in conjunction with the blessing, through the sponsorship of the Pass Christian Chapter of the Gulf Coast Shrimpers and Oystermen's Association, the Yacht Club, Lions Club, Rotary Club, and the Chamber of Commerce.

Prizes were awarded to the best decorated boat in the parade and to the winners of the Luger Races, which were held immediately following the blessing.

Request Permission To Work In Waters Of District Named

The Texas Company of New Orleans has made an application at the office of the District Engineer in Mobile, Alabama, for a permit for temporary work in a navigable waterway in the district covered by that office.

The waterway and location mentioned in the permit covers Lake Borge and Mississippi Sound, Louisiana and Mississippi, within an area 19.4 miles long on the north boundary at latitude 30 degrees, 14 mins. six and a half miles wide on the west boundary at longitude 89 degrees, 14 mins. The south boundary is a straight line bearing southeasterly, connecting the south termini of the west and the east boundary lines. This area is located central to a point approximately six miles south of Clermont Harbor, Mississippi. The waters south of and adjacent to the above-described area are under the jurisdiction of the New Orleans Engineer District, and the proposed seismic survey will extend into the waters.

The work will include a seismic survey, consisting of shot points 1000 feet to 3000 feet apart on lines spaced approximately one mile apart. Pipe at shot points will be marked by a red flag and no pipe will be left in place overnight.

The plans may be seen at the Office of the District Engineer, Room 3, Building 2, 2301 Grant Street, Mobile, Alabama. A copy of the plans will be forwarded upon request to anyone interested at a cost of 50 per sheet, payment to be made by cash, certified check, or money order drawn on the Postmaster at Mobile, payable to the Treasurer of the United States.

Any protest to be made against the proposed operations from the standpoint of navigation must be received at the above office not later than August 21; otherwise, it will be considered that there is no objection.

The decision as to whether a permit will be issued must rest upon the effect of the proposed work on navigation. The Corps of Engineers cannot undertake to settle conflicting claims to property rights affected by the proposed work, John P. Agnew, Jr., Captain of the Corps of Engineers, announced.

Contract for the construction of the proposed toll bridge over the Bay of St. Louis on Highway 90 will be let within the next 60 to 90 days. Sidney T. Roebuck, chairman of the Mississippi State Highway Commission, stated Tuesday. The contract will amount to approximately $6 million.

Miss Adele Thorn, of Charity Hospital School of Practical Nurses, in New Orleans, addressed the group concerning the new school opened at Charity hospital. Miss Thorn told of the need for practical nurses and listed the qualifications. Any young woman, or man, and men are being encouraged to enter this field, with two years of high school, is qualified to apply. Miss Thorn stated that for $125 one year of school and training including uniforms, meals, laundry, and books are furnished to the applicant. Any young people interested in becoming practical nurses are requested to contact the Women's League or the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce for further information on this subject.

It was announced that the Civic League would have the cake and candy booth at the Memorial Park Fair on the 26th and 27th, Mrs. Jackie Bufkin was appointed Chairman of the Booth committee with Mrs. Jessie McKay, Miriam McDonald, Edna Nease, and J. P. Haager assisting on the committee.

Miss Rosalee Ambler tendered her resignation as secretary of the group. Miss Ambler has accepted a position in Pensacola, Florida, and will be leaving soon. Mrs. Jessie McKay was unanimously elected secretary to fill the vacancy.

Miss Ambler read a letter the League received from the Mississippi State Highway Department in response to the bridge being divided between the Bay and Pass and be used to build fishing and bathing piers along the beach. The Highway Department commended the League's interest but stated that the bridge had already been designated for repairs of other bridges and construction of smaller bridges in the state.

The next regular meeting will be held on the 29th and suggestions for a slogan are requested at this meeting. A slogan will be chosen to engrave on the league stationery.

Father Curren Blesses Fish Fleet

Arthur B. Tipping, chairman of the race committee, made the presentation of the awards to the winners.

The Janet Louise, owned by Nick French and skippered by Frank Daley was judged her best decorated boat with runner-up honors going to the Deloris Catherine, skippered and owned by Richard Furchner.

The Luger races were divided into three classes and the winners were as follows:
Class A—The Lola Sera with Roger Johnson as skipper; second, The Janet Louise, with Frank Daley as skipper, and third, The Doris M. with Emile Schmidt as skipper.

Class B—The Jo Ann with Joe Benigno as skipper; second, The Deloris Catherine, with Robert Furchner as skipper; third, H. H.

Contract for the Pascagoula bridge, amounting to approximately $4 million, will also be let.

ATTEND CONFERENCES
Leo Seal, president of the Hancock Bank, project trustee for the Bay St. Louis bridge, attended conferences with Commissioner Thomas H. McDonald of the bureau of public roads, and other officials in Washington, along with Roebuck and his associate commissioners, John D. Smith and Roy Adams, and Alex Harris, chief engineer.

WORK TO PROCEED
In a recent article appearing in the Times Picayune, it was stated that Roebuck quoted Commissioner McDonald as saying that the bureau does not anticipate any difficulty in connection with the construction of the two bridges. With both of the temporary existing bridges in poor condition, and because they are vital to the Gulf region, plans for the construction will proceed according to schedule.

RECEIVE PRIORITY
Both of the proposed bridges apparently would receive priority because of their importance, if priorities should become necessary, officials said.

Hazelet and Erdal of Louisville, Ky., a nationally known firm of bridge engineers, has been awarded the contract for designing and supervising the construction of the spans, Roebuck concluded.

Thibeaux Given Holy Year Medal
Wilmer Thibeaux, District Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, has completed his visits to councils of the order under his jurisdiction at Pascagoula, Biloxi, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis. His visits to the various councils at this time were for the purpose of completing plans for the Inter Council Councils meeting to be held at the Knights of Columbus Home in Bay St. Louis September 17.

At the Biloxi Council meeting, Mr. Thibeaux was presented with a Holy Year medal by Forest Taylor, Grand Knight of the Biloxi Council. This medal was given to the council for presentation to the District Deputy by R. O. Besse, jeweler, a member of Biloxi Council.

A MEDIUM OF SELF EDUCATION

"Reading maketh a full man; conference a ready man; and writing an exact man."—Bacon.
One of the most needed institutions in the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library—it serves a great purpose. It is the medium of self education which offers much pleasure and rich profits to young and old—it is a treasure chest of good reading.
The Library was founded in 1933 and was supported with W. P. A. funds; later the county and city voted to help support this institution. From the County the library receives, rent, heat, lights, and $50.00 per month; and from the City, the sum of $50.00 per month. These amounts of course, are not sufficient to take care of the necessary expenses of a public library. The salaries of the Librarian and her assistant are very meagre; it is necessarily so in view of the cash income. Miss Crawford and her assistant, Miss Edwards, have done a great job with our library. They have labored incessantly in bringing to our people some of the best books published, at practically no cost. In fact many of the better volumes have been donated by their friends—people who have never even visited Bay St. Louis. These ladies have lived a life devoted to the library in the past few years—they are to be commended.

Commendations, of course, are self-satisfying; nevertheless, it takes money to purchase and repair books, and to take care of the many other incidental expenses. It is upon you that they must depend.

In order to raise funds, which at this time are much needed, Saturday, August 19, has been designated as TAG DAY for the library. Volunteer workers on this day will appeal to you for donations. Before you offer your contribution, give some thought to the good this institution is doing your County, then measure your donation accordingly.

LETTERS

Bay St. Louis, Miss.
August 16, 1950

Editor:

You have used your paper so consistently for trying to help Bay St. Louis grow, that I wonder if you won't let me add my plea in its behalf?

As a good school city, Bay St. Louis will naturally always interest parents of children, and as your first city just one hour's ride from New Orleans, we can always expect to derive a certain interest from persons traveling out of New Orleans. However, despite the possibilities of beauty, which could attract the attention of the eyes of persons interested in our Coast line and Beach Front, and any number of our side streets, the neglected weed and grass cutting situation is one which is really becoming important. With our mild climate and the possibility of weeds and grass continuing to grow unhampered for four more months, can you imagine what the general picture could be?

Certainly, it should be possible to find a solution for having Bay St. Louis rid of this unsightly condition even while we still have the summer population with us. Aren't there enough prisoners at times between the city and county offenders to be placed on a weed-cleaning project—and, too, maybe clean the two small stretches of beaches which serve hundreds of people all through the bathing season. Couldn't a solution of such a problem be worked out between our city and county?

Of course, property-owners naturally will follow suit in cleaning and grass-cutting on their own premises when they see the streets and ditches and culverts being placed in an orderly and attractive condition.

A Believer in Bay St. Louis

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Little Jeanne Kay Necaise celebrated her third birthday Sunday afternoon, August 13. Her mother, Mrs. Jimmie Necaise, was hostess at an outdoor party held in the Memorial Park.

Guests present were Louise and Donald Bufkin, Karen and Judy Van Landingham, Janie Martin, Johnnie Begue, Gracie and Lettie Sue Ashley, Sylvia Necaise, and Miss Alice Carter, Aunt of the honoree.

CONGRATULATIONS
To Mr. and Mrs. Jules Brown

on the birth of a daughter in New Orleans, La. Mrs. Brown is the former Mae Walton.

The Rotary Club met Tuesday noon at the dining room of the Miramar hotel with C. D. Taylor, M. D., presiding.

Tom Adams, program director for the week, introduced his guest at the dinner, Miss Zoie Brown, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Levi G. Brown. Miss Brown has just returned from an extended trip to Western Europe and she presented an interesting address describing the various points she visited.

Dr. Taylor gave a resume of the regatta and blessing of the Shrimp Fleet and commented on the success of the program from the view point of the civic organizations and the people of the city. He also expressed the hope that the regatta, like the blessing, would develop into an annual custom.

Bill Robinson discussed the coming memorial park fair with the group.

There is no shortage. There is plenty of all kinds of food. Look at our well filled shelves. Some prices have advanced. Why, we do not know? We do know there is plenty of food for everyone—so buy only what you need. There is no reason to stock up.

WMS Meets Tues.

At the meeting of the Womans Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Claiborne Ladner gave the remaining chapters of the book "The Larger Stewardship," by Charles A. Cook.

In these lessons Mrs. Ladner said "this larger stewardship has to do with the life of man—his inner life and his outward expression of that life. The two cannot be segregated. Our money is not our own in its entirety for all that we have belongs to God," she continued, "stewardship has to do with what one is and does, more than with what one has."

"Personality is the most precious thing a human being possesses. It exalts man into the likeness of God. It is of greater value than the body because the body perishes but personality lives forever." She cautioned her hearers on the importance of the stewardship of personality, and the surrendering of personality to Christ.

In the lesson on Stewardship of talents Mrs. Ladner said "Everyone is a steward of his ability—innate or cultivated. Everyone has resources and power of some sort and degree which he can harness for the service of God." In stressing the fact that to say cannot do this and I cannot do that is no reason for doing nothing because everybody has at least one talent, she added, "Do nothingism is a deadly sin."

In the lesson "Stewardship of a Calling," Mrs. Ladner emphasized the necessity for one to choose some type of vocation and then dedicate the service of his vocation to God. "There needs to be a spiritualizing of the purpose for which people live," she said.

In the lesson given Tuesday the Stewardship of Influence was treated from a person's daily life which influences people for either good or bad. No matter how a person lives casts some type of influence. Two important points were "The influence of the church" and "The Ministry of Prayer for influencing others for good."

The Stewardship of Opportunity was timely and in Mrs. Ladner's presentation of this she said "Our Lord's Life on earth was his unparalleled and supreme opportunity to bless and save the world. The supreme opportunity is made up of many smaller ones and just as we lay hold of each of these and use them the lofty goal of success will be reached."

In the lesson of the stewardship of Time those present were again reminded that time, like all other things that they possess, is a gift of God and should be used to promote the best and be used for God and His stewards. "We cannot save time as we do money to use at some later date. We use it now or it is wasted." Time is not only money, as Benjamin Franklin expressed it, but it is knowledge, it is wisdom, it is opportunity, it is power, it is skill, it is achievement, Mrs. Ladner stated.

Mrs. Wilson served iced drinks and a social hour was enjoyed.

The next meeting of the circle will be held at the home of Mrs. Stanley File on deMontluzin street.

Civic Cooperation In Pass Christian Keeps Alive Memory of War Heroes

A tangible example of what civic cooperation can do is being demonstrated in Pass Christian through the building of its War Memorial Park. No names are mentioned herein. The credit belongs to the entire community, working for a common endeavor. The talker, the worker, the brain and the brawn, the contributor and the solicitor are all in the same category, each did what he could.

The idea was born over a couple of highballs in mid-1944 in the home of the man who was then President of the Chamber of Commerce. Patton had just made his dash across France and McArthur was well on his march back to Iataan. The Chamber of Commerce members were getting their heads together to discuss the post-war plans for their little city of 3500.

Whether the highballs were too potent is still a debatable question, but one of the directors suggested a plan to purchase one of the most desirable spots in town and dedicate it for a park and playground, to those men of the community who had lost their lives in the war. At that time about ten local boys had made the supreme sacrifice.

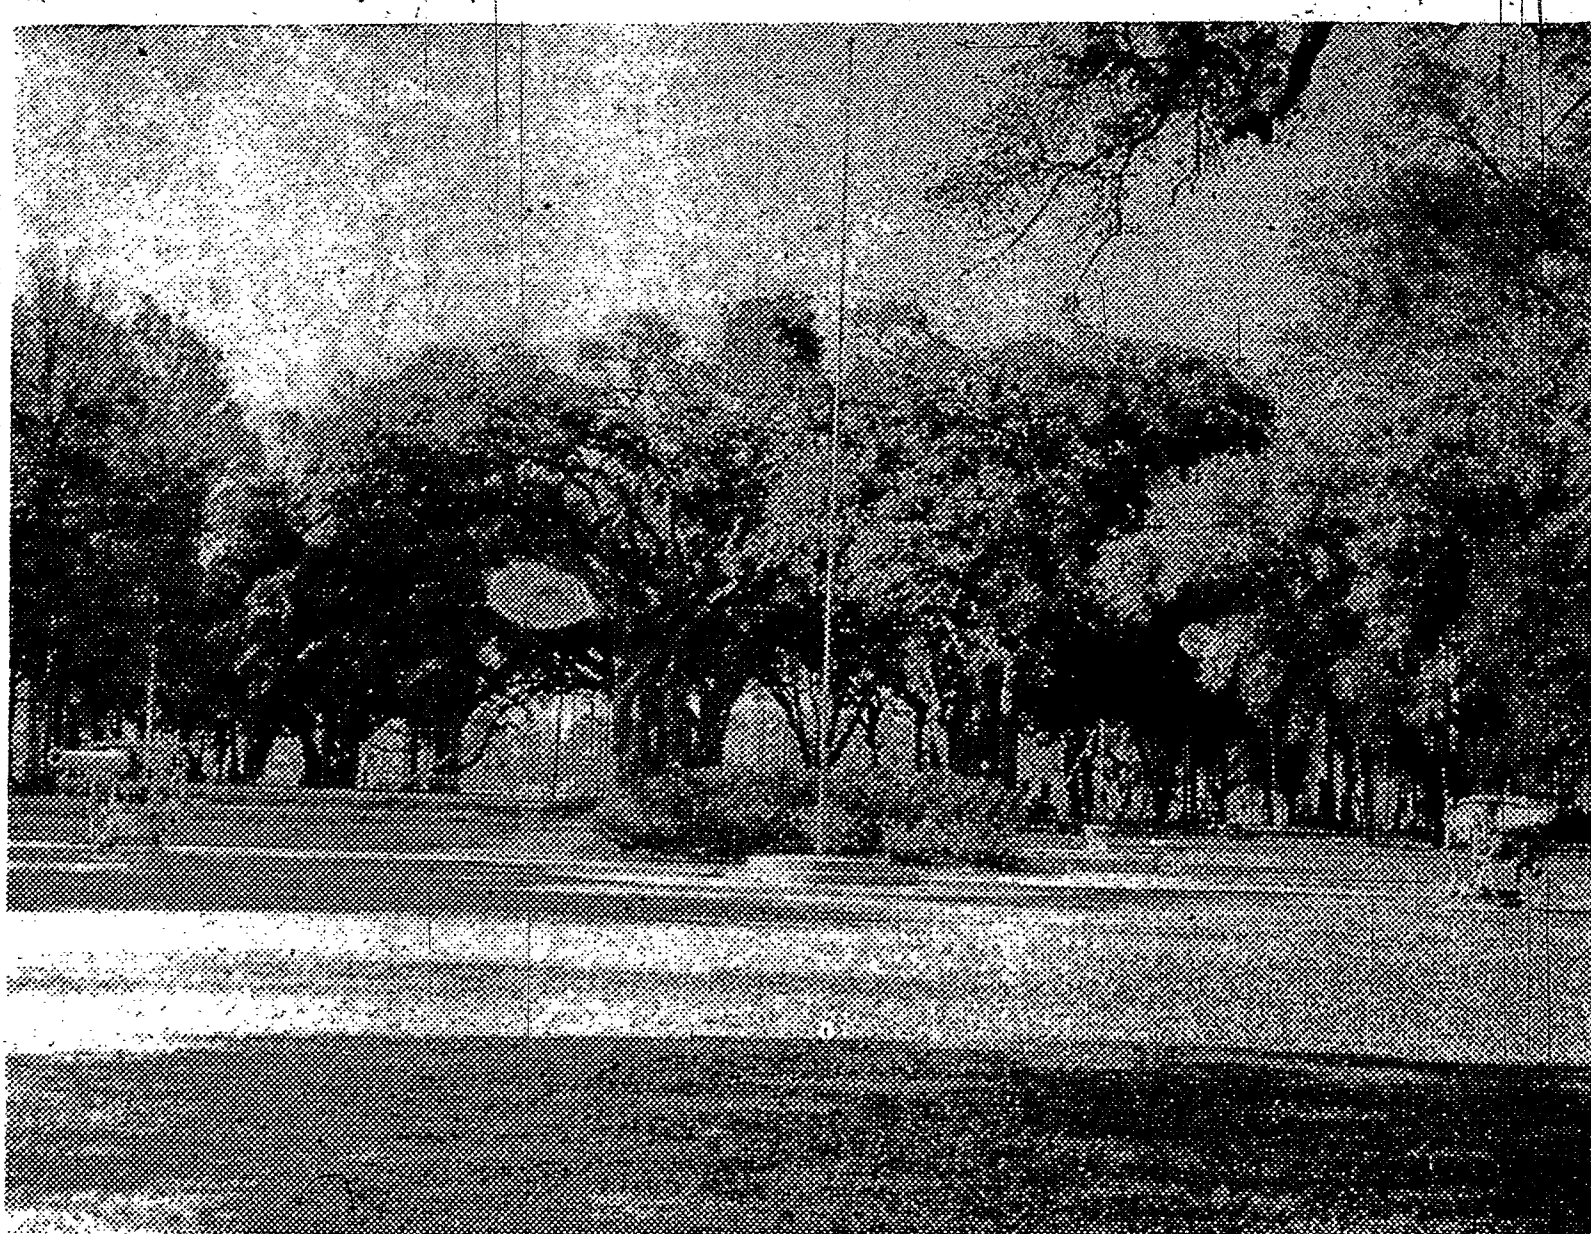

The solvency of the Chamber would certainly be threatened by such an expenditure. The property in question was located on Beach Blvd., some four hundred feet frontage and extending back two blocks, or more than fifteen hundred feet. The price was set at $15,000.00. The property had long been vacant, but was endowed with nature's finest gift, a beautiful avenue of live oaks extending through its center, although the rear was a wilderness.

The Executive Committee of the Chamber thought well of the suggestion and voted to start a movement to raise funds by public subscription. Not so the organization as a whole, for when the idea was broached at the next meeting it was rejected and labeled a fantastic dream. The sponsors retired to hibernate with their plan.

Some months later, in November, 1944, the ladies of the community fostered a plan to establish an Honor Roll, listing all persons of the locality serving in the armed forces. A community meeting was called to this end, and into this meeting was depicted the long-dormant Memorial Park.

The idea was enthusiastically received, the two plans were amalgamated and with the sponsorship of the ladies, the committee went into high gear. The War Memorial Association was formed, incorporated as a non-profit corporation, and contracted to purchase the property for $15,000.00.

Raising this money became a general community affair. The doctor teamed up with the banker and vied with the real estate man and the electrician as to who would bring in the most pledges. The public officials called and wrote their friends. The housewife left her dishes in the sink and went out ringing doorbells. The retired men tramped the sidewalks by day and the clerks and brokers pounded on doors at night.

Within a short 30 days more than $5,000.00 cash was on hand, and notes were signed for the remainder. But this was not the end. Through the spring of 1945, while the Russian and Allied armies were closing in on Berlin, the committees kept going. They kept going to such an extent that more than one of the wives were looking around for a cheap lawyer to sue for divorce, as their husbands, when not out beating the bushes for park prospects, were breathing down a telephone humming, "My Dreams Are Getting Better All The Time."

What a variety of pledges and cash were brought in. Not only the well-to-do with their hundred dollar checks, but the small business man, the butcher, the baker were in for $50.00 each, and so would have been the candle stick maker had such a personage been located within the range of the committees.

Many salaried folks were putting in their share at five and ten dollars a month in a sort of installment philanthropy, to reach a minimum of a $50.00 contribution. About 200 contributors are now listed as Charter Members of the Association, the donors of the Park. One service man sent in $50.00 from Alaska just a few short weeks before his B-24 failed to return from a bombing run over Japan.

Other civic organizations put their shoulders to the wheel. The Rotary Club put on so many programs relative to the Park that it was suggested that a "NO PARKING" regulation be adopted so the club could otherwise function. The Yacht Club boys lent a helping hand, and the Ladies Service Club, a local organization of the USO type voted their entire treasury of some $600.00 into the park fund for improvements, as they disbanded at the war's close.

The Scouts, Boy-Girl and Cubs, contributed their good turn when needed. The newer organizations, the Lions Club, VFW and their Auxiliary, and the Ladies Civic League, although not in existence when the Park started, have willingly lent their aid when called upon. After the 1947 hurricane the Book Club sponsored a benefit to pay the tree surgeon for the work on the damaged oaks.

The Park is now completely paid for, as far as the purchase price of the property. Over $8,000 additional has been spent on improvements. Paved walks, benches and a large assortment of playground equipment have been installed. Two large naval guns point sea-ward against a backdrop of the avenue of live oaks. Two concrete tennis courts are located in the rear, and as the Park Commission and the Association count the anticipated income from entertainments and benefits, they plan still further installations and improvements.

This Park Commission appointed as a non-political body, leased to the Softball League. The rear portion as a soft-ball playing field. Here again was demonstrated what community cooperation can do.

A few short years ago these youngsters took over this tract, as a jungle and paradise for bullfrogs. Each weekend, for many weeks, the sound of the axe mingled with the snort of the borrowed bull-dozer, the whir of the jeep and the rumble of trucks as the land was being cleared and filled. The labor of the youngsters, many of them returned veterans, was being given freely toward this community development, given as freely as the dollars of the older folk for the original purchase of the property. They financed their initial undertaking through the sale of $5,000. in notes to other home folks and retired more than $4,000 to date. The community was indeed fortunate—the energy and enthusiasm of the softball boys paid big dividends. Seeing the perseverance and ambition of these youngsters and their sponsors, one of the community's public spirited families made possible a donation of $15,000 to complete the ball park.

Were it not for the generosity of this gift the soft ball boys would still be struggling with their incomplete field, and yet were it not for the work of the youngsters in underbrush and the mud and determination to finish their ball park, the donation would not have materialized. Today on this section of the Park is located what is perhaps the best softball field in the state. The field is equipped with excellent lighting facilities, adequate seating capacity, concession booth and rest rooms. Throughout the summer season it is a gathering spot for young and old. The youngsters enjoy themselves with wholesome exercise and the oldsters watch and wish they were young once more.

Other interested persons spon-sored the moving of the boy scout house from its previous site adjoining the cemetery to Memorial Park. The Scout House was remodeled and the new environment adds to its usefulness and accessibility. The scouts have free access to all ball games and operate the soft drink concessions.

Throughout the park are found individual donations. A plant from one family, a tree from another—contributions from those interested, anonymous donations toward the park's development.

A Park Fair is given annually. This year it will be held August 26 and 27. It is primarily a money-raising event. The money for the Park's maintenance and improvement must come from somewhere—so why not have a good time while raising it? The Fair is a combination of a church bazaar, a tag-fest, and as one expressed it, "the biggest shakedown since the San Francisco earthquake." However, the folks like it, the money goes into the Park and the workers, and customers are interchangeable. One may operate a booth for a couple of hours and then a new shift comes on. When the second night winds up everybody's tired, happy and more than likely broke.

The community is not resting on its laurels, but continues to push the endeavor toward completion. As is well known in Pass Christian, neither Rome nor the Memorial Park was built in a day.

To be a US Army Field Forces soldier requires teamwork, leadership, self-reliance, and ingenuity, coupled with superb technical training.

Income From Forests Comes to $6,475,249

Income for forest products from U. S. Forest Service lands in the Southern region amounted to $6,475,249 during the fiscal year ending June 30, according to the annual Forest Service cutting report. That amount was stupendous value for sawlogs, poles, pulpwood, posts, tanbark, naval stores, shrubbery and other minor forest products.

The dollar income from National Forests established a new record last year, and will assure a substantial income to forest counties when the usual 25% allotments are returned to them through the State treasury.

The annual report from Regional Forester J. Herbert Stone shows a decline from the previous year's record of board footage cut from 20 national forests, despite a gain in receipts from the 1949 total of $5,439,528. The volume for 1949 was 474,753,000 board feet—a ten million decrease from the record $85,344,000 board foot total for 1949.

This volume loss is easily explained. Salvage cuts of the lighted dead chestnut dropped drastically from 54,495,000 board feet in 1949 to 18,597,000 board feet last year. Since this loss is more than triple the total volume decline for the region, forest officials are happy to point out that the net annual gain in green timber cut was about 25 million board feet.

There still is dead chestnut for salvage, mainly in the Pisgah and Nantahala National Forest of Western North Carolina and the Chattahoochee National Forest of northern Georgia, but demands for tanning extract are lowest since the war, whereas the remoteness of uncut areas and the increasing cull percentage of the wood make logging costs much higher. Sixty-nine million board feet of chestnut were cut in 1948 and the 1947 cut was nearly 75 million.

In eight of the 11 states of the region, the value of the timber cut increased, the report shows.

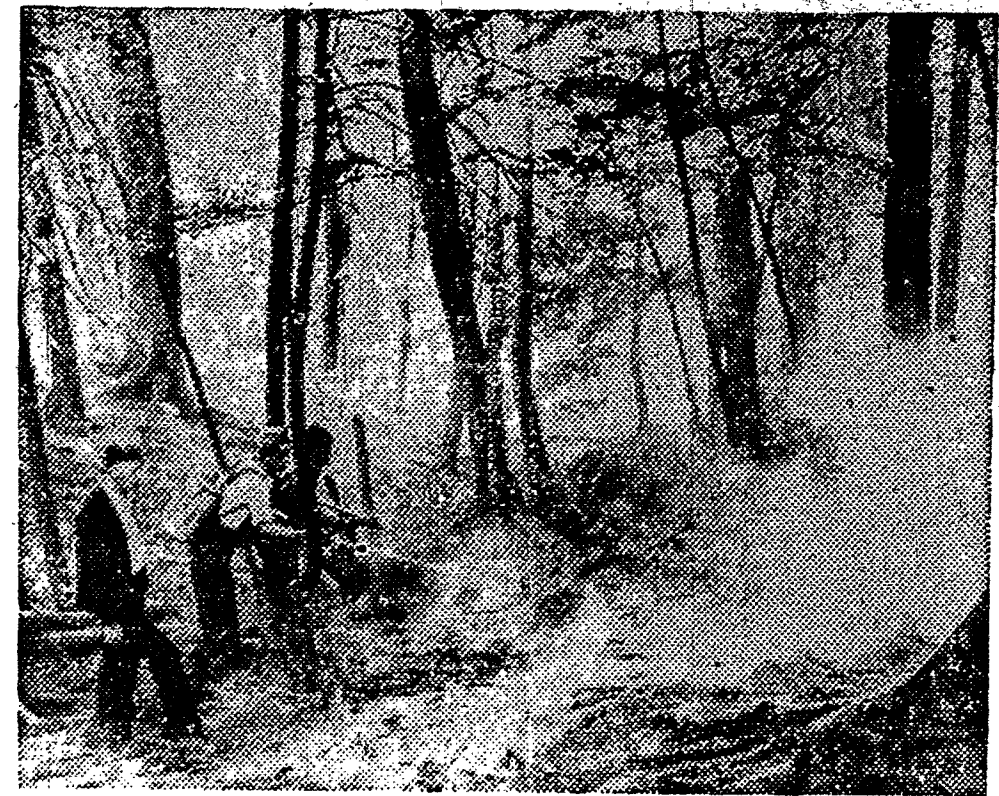

In addition to North Carolina and Georgia, the only other state showing a value decline was Florida. Fifteen of the 25 national forests increased their dollar income and 13 showed volume increases. On the DeSoto and Holly Springs Forests in Mississippi, volumes decreased, but their dollar value increased.

New records during the current year are a possibility, forest officials point out, because timber sold during the last fiscal year exceeded amounts cut both in volume and value. A new record total of 510,075,000 board feet of timber, sold last year, is valued at $8,476,046. Most of that volume will be cut this year although, due to the long term nature of some of the sales contracts. Some may not be cut until 1952 or later. For the same reason, some of this year's cut may be on sales consummated in 1949 or earlier.

Forest Fires Cost Nation Billion Dollars a Year

The average American rarely sees a forest fire and probably never fights one, yet each fire that burns costs him money.

Forest fires cost the people of the United States more than a billion dollars a year, says American Forest Products Industries of Washington, D. C. This industry-supported organization, which sponsors the national Keep America Green program, figures the nation's forest fire loss this way:

In an average year the United States has 200,000 forest fires. Together these burn an area almost as large as the State of Indiana. Sawtimber consumed, if processed, would be worth 700 million dollars. Saving that volume of lumber would earn American labor 40 million dollars in wages. In terms of one-family homes the potential lumber forest fires burn in a year would amount to 86,000 houses.

Potential pulp wood trees destroyed by forest fires would make enough paper to print every newspaper in the United States for 12 months. This potential pulp wood alone, were it saved and processed, would be worth about 600 million dollars a year.

Fighting forest fires costs Americans more than another 40

M.S.I.A. Holds Annual Meeting

State College, Miss.—The Mississippi Seed Improvement Association held its eleventh annual meeting here in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, August 17, beginning at 9:30 a. m., according to John W. Oakley, Association secretary.

Clover seed production, which is expanding rapidly in the state, was discussed by Dr. E. A. Hollowell, agronomist, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. D. A., Beltsville, Md.

Work of the new seed processing research laboratory here was outlined by Vernon C. Harris, U. S. D. A. agronomist.

"The future of Certified Lint as Viewed by a Mill Executive" was the topic of Arch Lineberger, Jr., Piedmont Manufacturing Company, Belmont, N. C.

V. A. Johnson, Indianapolis, Association president, reviewed the general seed improvement situation in Mississippi.

The all-day program also included insect control, cotton seed treatments, new field crop and vegetable varieties, and details of seed certification.

Over 500 farmers take part in activities of the association. The seed certification program is to produce adequate supplies of seed stocks, pure genetically and otherwise, from leading crop varieties. This is done by field inspection, laboratory analysis, and official tagging and sealing.

RYE, BARLEY AND WHEAT VARIETIES FOR MISS. STUDIED

Experiment Station Plant Breeders Small Grain Varieties for State Report Progress in Developing State College, Miss.—The task of developing small grain varieties to be used in Mississippi for forage and grain production has been materially advanced during the 1949-1950 growing season, according to Dr. C. Dale Hoover, head of the Experiment Station Agronomy Department. Plants highly resistant to leaf rust, the scourge of rye in the South, have been found in Balbo, Abruzzi, and Florida Black. New varieties re-adapted to Mississippi conditions are expected to be developed from these stocks.

More than 560 barley varieties have been introduced and are in process of testing. No one variety of barley is now resistant to all diseases or has all the characteristics, such as lodging resistance, needed for this area. Barley's high value as a grain feed for livestock and the palatability of its forage for dairy cattle have been demonstrated in other areas. Seeking to produce new varieties having the good qualities now scattered among many varieties, 49 sets of crosses were made in the greenhouse and field, using the best germ plasma available.

The first hybrid generation of half of these crosses is being grown in Canada this summer from a late May seeding to advance one generation the progress of the barley breeding program in Mississippi.

About 550 wheat varieties have been examined for reactions to disease. Other characteristics studied included rate of growth in the fall and winter and habit of growth regarding the erect versus the prostrate condition of the foliage. In order to combine the best qualities into new and adapted varieties, 74 sets of crosses were made between the most promising strains.

The 30 wheat crosses made in 1949 were grown in the first hybrid generation. One backcross to Chancellor was produced with the intention of securing a new Chancellor highly resistant to leaf rust and mildew.

Approximately 5,000 plant selections were taken from wheat hybrids originating in Texas. Having shown rapid rate of growth, they will be intensively evaluated in 1950-51.

Khayat Outlines Interpretation Of Role of Forests In Human History; Weston, Bishop Attend Meeting

The Longleaf Pine Group of the Mississippi Sub-section, Society of American Foresters, met at the Friendship House Friday night for a regular bi-monthly meeting.

Guest speaker was Edward Khayat, Moss Point banker and Jackson County Commissioner, who outlined his interpretation of "The Role of Forests in Human History."

"From the very dawn of history, man has regarded forests as an unfriendly habitat. To ancient man it was a dark, forbidding, evil thing. Many early civilizations, like those of the Aztecs and the Incas did not originate in forests; they grew and blossomed in semi-arid regions devoid of dense forest growth. Even our pilgrim forefathers regarded forests as barriers to progress. It took them nearly 200 years to reach the crest of the Appalachians."

The persistence of this inherited attitude is still very evident today men in many walks of life continue to cling to the out-moded belief that clearing away of forests is synonymous with progress."

"History and contemporary experience point inescapably to the conclusion that South Mississippi is destined to develop mainly into a timber-grassland (pasture) economy is through wise development of these resources. Lasting prosperity cannot be bought! It must be created. Conservation, which means wise use, must be nurtured and encouraged so that it may help to create the prosperity that can be ours."

Among paramount needs in the field of conservation, Khayat listed continued longtime educational effort, organization and strengthening of laymen's contact groups, greatly strengthened forest research in both production and utilization, extension of conservation knowledge to all our youth.

The program and local arrangements were handled by L. E. Dantzer, Scott Moore, and Douglas Post. Randle Dedeaux, Chairman of the Longleaf Group, appointed J. W. Howell as program chairman for the next meeting which will be held in Picayune, Friday afternoon, October 13, beginning at 2 p. m. Chairman Dedeaux also announced that the National Meeting of the Society would be held on the Coast in the fall of 1951 when some fifteen hundred foresters and guests are expected to convene here.

Out of town members and guests at the meeting included John Laird of Mobile, Mike Stalmuke, L. E. Dantzer, Clyde Leavill, J. W. Natterville, Ed. Khayat of Moss Point-Pascagoula, Don Lauberburn and J. D. Guthrie of Hattiesburg, Arthur Shepard of Pineville, W. W. Barber of Perkinston, Posey Howell of Hattiesburg, T. H. Howell of Picayune, Butler Brown of University Lands, Don McArthur of Wiggins, Don Young of College Station, Texas, J. S. ## Mrs. Ladner Discusses Stewardship With W. M. S.

Mrs. Claiborne Ladner gave the first lesson in the book, "The Larger Stewardship," by Dr. Charles A. Cook, Tuesday, August 8, at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the mans Baptist Church.

Mrs. Ladner gave talks on the stewardship of personality, the stewardship of talents and the stewardship of calling. She said it was beginning to be evident that Christians are taking religion more seriously and that churches are more crowded. "Stewardship is coming to light," the speaker stated.

At one time, Mrs. Ladner said, the importance of developing the mind seemed sufficient; but the stewardship of mind, body and soul is the responsibility of the individual now. "You are not your own because you were bought with a price," she continued. "We are not God's only by creation, but by sacrifice as well." The stewardship of money has lost its value, and in the sight of God, it is not what a man has, but what he is.

Stewardship of talents, the speaker added, have a high value. "Use to the fullest what we have. The world needs more religion in business, and the church needs more business in religion."

Be a common member of the church, she concluded, not an honorary member, because an honorary member does not use his talents and is not a steward. Mrs. Ladner will give the closing chapters of the book at another date. This study is part of the program of the W. M. S.

I hope that this explanation may be of some value to the owners of television sets who have antennae on the roof tops. Inspect your installation for the presence of this grounding system and if it is missing or damaged have the matter taken care of immediately.

A heavy copper or aluminum wire of number four (4) gauge (AWG) has been approved by the National Electric Code governing the installation of television antennae and mast installation. This method of protection has also been recommended by the RCA Service Company, a subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America.

A television antennae that has been properly installed with an approved grounding system is good lightning protection for the home. It is extremely important that every home be protected where a television antennae is installed. Most television dealers and service men in this area are doing a thorough job of grounds their installation.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Parasites Injure Domestic Bird Production

By HOWARD F. SIMMONS

Domestic birds are subject to a considerable number of diseases, some of which spread rapidly through the flock and cause high mortality. They may also be infested by various kinds of parasites, some of which live on the surface of the body and others in the various passages or organs within the body. These parasites are injurious because they take part of the nourishment which should be used by the bird to put on flesh, or to produce eggs, and also because by their movements and other activity they cause irritation and inflammation of the parts they attack.

The contagious diseases which are caused by germs and viruses and the weakness and loss of flesh caused by the larger parasites just mentioned are the most important conditions which the poultryman has to consider in the endeavor to keep his birds healthy. These germs, viruses, and parasites, should be kept out of the flock by suitable preventive measures, because disease may be avoided much more easily and cheaply than it can be cured.

To prevent diseases, we need to understand something about them. Some diseases are caused by infection; others result from faults of nutrition; and still others are traceable to general conditions surrounding the flock.

The first rule of health is sanitation. The observance of this rule comprises the following points: (1) Quarantining of new stock until it is known to be healthy; (2) protecting the flock from access to polluted drinking water, spoiled or infected feeds, or contaminated grounds; (3) burying, burning or otherwise making proper disposal of diseased carcasses; (4) Thoroughly cleaning and disinfecting premises contaminated by disease; (5) protecting the flock from disease and parasites carried by free-flying birds; and (6) preventing persons who own unhealthy chickens from entering the poultry yards or houses.

Large flocks should be divided into smaller units for convenience in care and feeding and as an aid to disease prevention. Birds of various ages and of different species should be kept separate.

Normal, healthy chickens do not require drugs of any kind. When an outbreak of disease occurs in a flock, the first procedure is to get an accurate diagnosis. This can be done best by the local veterinarian.

FEEDING PULLETS

Pullets on the range need to be fed for future good production of eggs as well as for present body growth needs.

The egg is not produced overnight, but takes several days. In the body of a pullet coming into production, are many undeveloped yolks of minute size. Development goes to egg production. Producers who expect birds to lay must feed them properly from the time they are baby chicks until they have finished the laying period and are ready for market. The feeding program now may mean the difference between a good layer and a non-layer.

NEW TYPE SMALL WHITE TURKEYS USED IN STUDY

Experiment Station Raising 475 Beltsville White Turkeys To Compare With Larger Breeds

State College, Mississippi—A new type of turkey, small enough for the average family, is being grown at the Agricultural Experiment Station this year. Over-ready, the hens weigh 7 to 9 pounds and the toms 12 to 14 pounds.

The new breed of turkeys, called Beltsville White, was developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Maryland. Although breeding stock is relatively scarce, Dr. A. T. Ringston, Poultry Department, obtained two cases of hatching eggs in February this year. Eighty per cent of the eggs hatched but some losses occurred when the poults crowded into coops, smothering some of the young turkeys.

Four hundred seventy-five of these small turkeys are being grown to provide foundation breeding stock for next season and to test for market reaction. It is expected that day-old poults or hatching eggs will be made available to turkey growers of the state next spring.

Last year the Experiment Station raised and sold a flock of large Broad Breast Bronze turkeys. Data from this year's experiment will be compared with last year's results.

Day-old turkey poults were started in a turkey brooder house in February. When the turkeys were nine weeks old and large enough to do without heat they were allowed to run out on a sun-porch where they will be grown until ready for market or selection for breeding stock at about 6 to 6½ months of age.

The sun-porch and shelter area provides 6 square feet of floor space per turkey. The chief feature of this confinement rearing is the slatted floor which keeps the turkeys off the ground but lets the droppings fall through to the ground.

This method of confinement rearing of turkeys will be compared with the more conventional method of range-rearing. Turkeys in this test have shown rapid growth. Feed consumed per pound of gain is higher, however, than that of turkeys reared on range.

Forestry is one of America's fastest growing professions. Here an industrial forester uses a paint gun to mark a defective tree for removal. ## HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Make Better Homes Reports

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

Seventy-nine Mississippi counties—everyone of the 82 in which there is a home demonstration agent—again this year made Rural Better Homes Reports to Mrs. R. S. Stages, New Albany, State Rural Better Homes Chairman. These reports represented the improvements made in 13,257 homes in 801 communities.

The list of improvements reported by Mrs. Stages at the State Home Demonstration Council meeting at State College included 2,150 homes remodeled and a thousand new homes built.

Home Demonstration Club women and 4-H girls improved the grounds around their homes by sodding 5,589 lawns, setting over 122,000 permanent foundation shrubs and rooting 92,500 cuttings.

Almost 2,500 families added gas heating systems, over 1,500 had telephones installed, and 1,632 added sinks in their kitchens. Storage cabinets, including kitchen cabinets, ventilated pantries for canned goods and clothes closets, reached the total of 7,426.

Over 1,400 new bathrooms were built and more than 1,500 equipped. Over 11,000 pieces of furniture were refinished, 6,800 floors refinished and around 3,500 new steps added.

Repairs included thousands of improvements to foundations, floors and porches, and paint jobs on out buildings, homes and rooms.

Sanitation improvements included almost 19,000 windows screened or repaired, doors screened or repaired, electric or pressure pumps and sanitary toilets added. Over 12,000 pieces of electrical equipment were bought, 10,000 repaired and 2,500 homes wired for electricity.

FOOD SAVED
A beautiful silver, covered vegetable dish—might be an extra toward to for hours you've spent this summer canning, freezing, brining, pickling and storing food.

To put your pantry, deep freeze and storage pit in competition with those of other home demonstration club women in his state here's all you have to do:

1. Make a plan for your family's food preservation needs. You did this earlier in the year, I am sure, before the food-saving season got in full swing.

2. Check to see how closely you reach the goals set up in your plan. It's time now to do some checking to see how far you've come and what's yet to be done to reach your food saving goal.

3. Write a story of how you went about carrying out your plan. Don't be afraid and say, "But I can't write". Just put it down on paper the way you would tell your friends about what you've done.

Get this plan and story to your home agent's office by December 1st. You can get a copy of the plan form to fill out from the home agent's office.

will send the records in this competition to Mrs. Anna F. Felder, Extension Foods and Nutrition specialist. Mrs. Felder will select a winner from each Extension district, and a state winner from these five district winners. The state winner will be visited by Mrs. Felder and other selected judges to see how well the food is stored and the quality of it. The award to the state food preservation winner for 1950 will be a silver covered vegetable dish, to be awarded at a state or district event early in 1951.

Announce Policies For They Are Growing Up Together Reserve Deferments

Policies for occupational deferment of government employees, Reserves and the National Guard, in the mobilization of the nation's armed forces was made known recently by the Department of Defense.

BASIC DEFERMENT RULES

The basic rules for deferment of Reservists in civilian occupations have been published in the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations and the Department of Commerce List of Essential Activities. Essentially, the Reservist deferred must be engaged in a critical occupation necessary to a highly essential activity and he will be deferred only until he can be satisfactorily replaced. A delay in call to active duty may not be considered as an indefinite exemption from military service.

Initial deferments of Reservists in critical occupations, in essential activities may not exceed a period of six months, and no extension may be for more than a period of six months.

The administration of the deferment policy has been delegated to the three military departments in the Department of Defense as it concerns their respective reserve components.

Deferments in all cases will be made on an individual basis and may be terminated at any time because of overriding military considerations. Deferments for dependency are not included in the criteria, inasmuch as members of reserve components are liable for call to active duty in time of need. The status of a Reservist is different from that of men called to service under the Selective Act. It is the policy, however, of the military departments to give consideration to hardship cases.

Application for delay in call to active duty should be made in writing when the Reservist receives his call to active duty. The request may be made by the Reservist or his employer.

The deferment policy for key civilian personnel within the Department of Defense is more strict than that for Reservists in other government departments and those in critical occupations in essential industry.

RESERVE OFFICERS' DELAY
Naval Reserve officer delays should be addressed to the Chief, Bureau of Naval Personnel. Non-aviators will send requests via their Naval District Commandant. Aviation officers should send their requests via the Chief of Naval Air Reserve Training, Naval Air Station, Glenview, Illinois. Enlisted Naval Reservists should send their requests to their Naval District Commandant. Enlisted Naval Aviation personnel should send their requests to the Chief of Naval Air Reserve Training, Naval Air Station, Glenview, Ill.

Marine Corps delays must come from the individual through the chain of command, starting with the local Inspector Instructor.

Requests for delays in call to active duty in the Army should be made by a member of the Army Organized Reserve Corps through his unit commander or unit instructor to the Commanding General of the Army Area in which he resides.

Air Force delays should be made to Headquarters of the numbered Air Force for the area in which the reservist resides.

Army and Air Force National Guardsmen delays should be made to the Adjutant General of the State concerned.

By the time this four-year-old boy enters college, hand-planted pine seedlings like the one beside him will be ready to harvest as pulp wood. Trees like these, planted on land not well suited for other crops, can, if protected from fire and properly managed, yield regular cash crops of wood. They are like money in the bank.

Your State Health Officer Says

Since summer vacation is time for picnics we should now be taking extra precautions as to proper handling of our food. Food infections may be brought about by our handling or preparing food when our hands are unclean. On picnics additional danger arises from the prevalence of flies and other insects which spread disease germs. Whether eating indoors or out, we should see that our food is handled only by people whose hands are clean and that all foods are protected at all times from insects.

Along with improper handling of food go improper refrigeration and inadequate cooking as major causes of illness from food in summer. The heat makes it possible for bacteria to grow and multiply rapidly. For this reason, it is important to see that foods which spoil easily, such as meats, milk, milk dishes, potato and chicken salad, are kept cold and not too long. Keeping foods at the proper temperature through adequate refrigeration prevents growth of harmful bacteria which might cause diarrhea or dysentery.

Adequate and proper cooking of foods will kill any bacteria which happen to be already present in the food.

A word should be devoted here to a warning against improper canning of foods. The eating of foods not properly canned may result in botulism, a serious illness. Home demonstration agents are available to give assistance with correct methods of canning.

WINTER GRAZING - MAKES PROFIT OF $43-$73 PER ACRE

Results of North Mississippi Grazing Experiments Reported: Ryegrass, Oats and Reseeding Crimson Clover Led in Tests

State College, Miss.—Four methods of wintering beef steers were compared at the North Mississippi Branch Experiment Station at Holly Springs last winter. Ryegrass, oats and crimson clover in combination and ryegrass alone produced the most profit per steer and per acre in last winter's studies.

One group of steers was wintered in a feeding lot, receiving a full ration of corn, cottonseed meal and lespedeza hay. They made a profit of $37.16 per steer in a 6-month winter feeding period.

The group wintered on ryegrass alone made a profit of $74.38 per steer or $65.08 per acre of ryegrass. The ryegrass had been seeded the previous year and the 1949-50 crop required no seeding.

A clover-fescue pasture produced profits of $52.59 per steer, or $43.82 per acre of grazing. This plot also was seeded the previous year so that planting was not necessary for each winter's grazing.

The ryegrass-oats-crimson clover test was made in cooperation with M. M. McKinnon of Tate County. This plot brought a return above cost of $73.28 per acre and since it grazed one steer per acre the return per acre was also $73.28. The oats were volunteer from an earlier crop. The ryegrass reseeded crimson clover were planted in September.

In summarizing the results B. L. Arnold and S. P. Crockett of the North Mississippi Station said: "The difference in buying and selling price of the steers was an important factor in the favorable returns for last year's grazing tests. Nevertheless the wintering of spring-dropped beef calves on pastures can be done profitably and offers an opportunity for raising the income of Mississippi farmers."

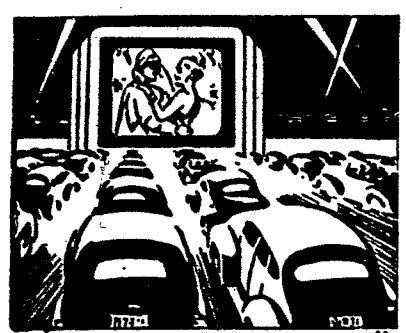

Enlistment requirements at the present time are the highest in the history of the Armed Forces, and at the same time so are the advantages.
